

Diploma of Screen and Media (Film & Television)

National ID: CUA51020 | State ID:AC75

The demand for content creators is growing around the world

This course provides the hands-on knowledge required in the collaborative field of filmmaking. You'll get the opportunity to put knowledge and theory into practice working on a variety of films to develop a wide range of industry skills. You will gain on-set experience in various roles while building vital knowledge in the craft of filmmaking.

The aim of the course is to prepare you for industry by encouraging best practise teamwork in the pursuit of compelling storytelling.

Once completed you can continue on to Advanced Diploma where there are opportunities to focus on specific disciplines such as directing, cinematography, producing, editing, production design and sound.

Gain these skills

- Operate professional cameras
- Edit video and audio using industry-standard software
- Lighting techniques
- Work as part of a film crew
- Develop content and script ideas for production
- Explore the elements of production design

Your qualification prepares you for roles such as:

Film, TV and Video Editor | Video Producer

Camera Operator (Film, Television, Video) | Light Technician | Television Equipment Operator

Other jobs title may include:

- Screen Writer
- Production Manager (Film and Television) | Assistant Producer
- Sound Recordist
- Lighting Designer (Productions)
- Instructional Designer

Further Study Option(s)

Advanced Diploma of Screen and Media (Digital Cinema)

Apply now

Course Overview

Location	Duration	Competitive	Selection criteria
Perth	Two semesters	No	No selection criteria